REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

1. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: None of the prior art of record teach or suggest a blow molding apparatus comprising a bell nozzle for blowing fluid under pressure into a blank disposed in a cavity of a mold, the nozzle having its end in the shape of a bell which is suitable, during blow-molding, for being pressed into leak tight end-to-end abutment against a wall of the mold while capping the neck of the blank that emerges from the wall against which the blank is in abutment via an annular collar while its body is engaged in the cavity of the mold; wherein the installation comprises means for securing the nozzle to the wall of the mold by releasable mutual attraction, which can be activated, after the nozzle has been brought into end-to-end contact with the wall of the mold without flattening a sealing gasket, so as to attract the nozzle and said wall towards each other with an attraction force greater than the repulsion force due to the pressure of the blow-molding fluid. The closest prior art is illustrated by French references 2764544 and 2790704 and illustrate clamping pressure being applied by piston or toggle mechanism to the bell nozzle. The form PCT/IPEA/409 lists DE 10063553 A1 illustrates a blow nozzle, which has a vacuum chamber surrounding the blowing nozzle to allow for rapid evacuation of the blown article. Said 409 form states that the X and Y references on the form 210 are not actually X or Y references. The means for securing the nozzle to the wall of the mold by reusable mutual attraction, which can be actuated, after the nozzle to the wall of the mold by releasable mutual attraction, which can be activated, after the nozzle has been brought into end-to-end contact with the wall of the mold without flattening a sealing gasket, so as to attract the nozzle and said wall towards each other with an attraction force greater than the repulsion force due to the pressure of the blow molding fluid is being considered as a means-plus-function limitation. The examples of this limitation are described in the specification as releasable mechanical curved fingers and associated bars, a suction source attached to a groove, and a magnetic or electromagnetic attracting device.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
